

Port

Announcer It's time for...What's That Mean?

Announcer Today: Port

Maru A port - or portacath -- is a catheter that is surgically implanted under the skin.

Maru And it has a reservoir compartment with a silicone bubble and we inject the medicine into the port...

Maru And this tube -- called the catheter -- carries the medicine to a major vein so it can be circulated throughout your whole body.