

What's That Mean? – The Faces Pain Scale

To help understand how much pain someone is in, we use different “pain scales.”

For younger kids we usually use pictures of faces.

The first face is the happiest because there is no hurt at all. The last face is the saddest because there's a lot of hurt.

You can point to the face that best describes how you feel.