

Handling Hospital Paperwork with a New Baby

Life with a newborn is busy. Prepare ahead of time to handle your medical bills to save time and worry later.

First, make sure you understand what you will be billed for.

You may receive separate bills from your hospital and doctor.

Second, check with your insurance company to see what is covered.

Don't forget to add your baby to your health insurance!

If you are unable to pay your medical bills, ask your care team about your options.

Finally, don't forget your baby's birth certificate! You will need your Social Security number.
