

Choosing a Center of Excellence

Now, a Health Minute.

As a patient, you have a choice in your care. If you have access you may choose a Center of Excellence. A Center of Excellence is a specialty area within a hospital that is recognized by the health care community because it provides the highest level of care.

For you, this can mean more focused care, access to a number of treatment options, a focus on research and education, and healthcare providers who specialize in best practices to improve your health.

Throughout your healthcare journey, a Center of Excellence will help you and your caregivers every step of the way.
