

Your Healthcare Team: Oncologist

Hello, I'm Dave... welcome to my toy studio.

I've got one of these, one of those, even this thing.

But I'm not here just to play with toys... I'm here to explain something very important.

Let's pretend this is you. And we'll pretend you're managing a very difficult diagnosis of cancer.

I know, it can be scary, confusing and complex. On top of that, you'll be dealing with appointment after appointment. And all that medical stuff that goes with that.

There is some good news.

Drum roll please. (Drum sounds)

You don't have to do this alone. You have an entire healthcare team whose job is to help you. One of which is: The Oncologist.

What does an oncologist do? An Oncologist is a cancer expert. They're the best at finding cancer as well as treating it.

They're going to take charge and develop the treatment plan that works best for you to live and recover from cancer.

The important thing to remember is that oncologists work to match the type of cancer with the best path forward for you. You're not alone.
