

RSV Vaccination During Pregnancy

RSV, or respiratory syncytial virus, is the leading cause of infant hospital stays. But you can protect your baby from RSV before they are even born.

How? By getting the RSV vaccine. It can prevent severe illness in your baby's first months of life.

If you are giving birth during the fall and winter, when RSV cases usually spike, talk with your healthcare provider to see if the RSV vaccine is right for you and your baby.
